The 8.5-mile, six-lane I-580 freeway from Mt. Rose Highway in south Reno to the Bowers Mansion area north of Carson City will consist of two interchanges and nine bridges, including the Galena Creek Bridge. Already, significant construction milestones have been reached by prime contractor Fisher Sand and Gravel and others during the first half of 2009.

"Northbound arch construction of the Galena Creek Bridge is anticipated to be completed soon," NDOT Project Manager Todd Montgomery said. "We are striving to meet the 2011 completion date."

"There is a great history behind this project," Montgomery said. "NDOT has been planning for several decades to improve I-580 to freeway standards for its entire length in Nevada. Piece by piece, the long-range plan is taking shape."

The project will boast many important safety features when completed. For project information, details of safety features and construction webcam, visit www.freewayextension.com.
