NDOT Obligates All ARRA/Stimulus Funds

In late January, the Nevada Department of Transportation and local agencies obligated all $201 million of the state's American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) highway funds, one month ahead of schedule.

Nevada was one of 3 states to obligate 100% of all ARRA funding. Maine and Wyoming were the other 2.

Of the $201 million that Nevada received as part of the federal ARRA highway funding, all 17 counties received funding totaling 69 projects statewide. More than $120 million went to projects in Clark County and an estimated $26 million went to the construction of the I-580/ Meadowood Interchange project in Washoe County.

"We are proud to have obligated all of our funds that not only provided an economic boost to Nevada but also funded much needed highway projects in all 17 counties," said NDOT Director Susan Martinovich. "NDOT put a lot of hard work into meeting this deadline ahead of schedule and it was truly a cooperative effort between the state, Clark and Washoe County Regional Transportation Commissions, Nevada Association of Counties and all the local governmental agencies."

Some of the highway improvement projects statewide benefitting motorists include: an estimated $30.4 million resurfacing of US 95 from SR 156 to SR 157 in Clark County; $12.4 million resurfacing of I-80 in Pershing County; $11.8 million resurfacing of US 93 in White Pine County.
