WELCOME!

The Nevada Department of Transportation (NDOT) is in the process of evaluating potential alternative corridors for the future Interstate 11 (I-11). The goal of this Planning and Environmental Linkage (PEL) process is to advance the congressionally designated I-11 corridor of US 95 between Las Vegas and I-80 as identified in the I-11 Intermountain and West Corridor Study (2014). This will help NDOT to strategically plan how to best advance this important transportation investment over time and inform future actions by both NDOT and federal land agencies. NDOT would like feedback from the community about the evaluation results and recommended corridors to advance into future studies and environmental processes.

This meeting is being held in an open house format. Project representatives will give a brief presentation followed by a short question and answer period from the audience. Project representatives will be available to answer questions before and after the presentation. Community Update
July 2018

1 Project overview
2 What we heard from you in the March meetings
3 The process we used to evaluate options
4 What we’re recommending going forward
We held 6 community meetings with over 400 attendees back in March.

We received 60 written comments.

Consistent concerns:

1. What happens to my town?
2. What happens north of I-80?
3. Have you considered all reasonable corridors?
In Segment A, well defined corridor with no other viable options.

Evaluation process evolved through input from the public, resource agencies, and jurisdictional agencies.

In Segment B, we started with 4 corridors and added 1 based on public input.
We compared each of the 5 corridors in Segment B against each other using a scoring method.
2 corridor alternatives in Segment B favorably met the criteria for I-11

Corridor A1, B2 and B3 provide an excellent future link into the I-80 system complementing existing facilities.

These corridor recommendations will help state and local communities supplement the economic development plans that target community investments.
Next Steps:

• Receive feedback on alternatives analysis results by August 31, 2018
• Finalize recommendations
• Develop the implementation steps/strategies
• Complete PEL documentation
• State Transportation Board and Federal Highway Administration approvals
• Publish final report by September 30, 2018
